- 2) Alongside with silent letters, it's also important to pay attention on how to pronounce phrases in English. In Brazil, we have much contact with American English through movies, series, games, etc. This video here is about how to sound like a native speaker, and also offers some tips on how to improve your English. Watch it and try to speak up the examples given in the video. Let's practice!
- 3) Dialogue Practice: Practice the following dialogues with yourself or with a partner. Listen to the corresponding audios to better pronounce the lines.

Dialogue 1: Favorite Subject at School

A: What's your favorite subject at school?

B: Actually, none of them really attract me... I rather prefer studying by myself...

A: That's comprehensive. I don't like going to school either, but I like reading books in the comfort of my home.

B: Yeah, that's pretty much my thing, too. And what have you been reading?

A: Mostly novels like Lord of the Rings. I also like some technical books on Science.

B: That's neat! I've been reading some books on Math and Literature.

A: How about movies? What genre do you like the most?

B: I do like horror and adventure, especially superhero movies.

A: That's pretty much my taste, too. But I also like thrillers.

B: Why don't we go home to watch a movie?

A: Good idea!

Dialogue 2: E-mail Address

A: Hey there!

B: Hey! How have you been?

A: I've been great! I gotta ask you your email... I've lost it...

B: No problem! That's icantremember@gmail.com. What's your email address?

A: It's icantremembereither@yahoo.com.br. Will you be able to remember that?

B: With no shadow of a doubt! That's quite easy to remember!

A: So that's yours!
